This Pricing Supplement supplements the Prospectus relating to $20,000,000,000 Medium Term Notes of the Bank, as amended or supplemented, and the Prospectus Supplement. Holders should carefully read this Pricing Supplement, the Prospectus Supplement and the Prospectus to fully understand the information relating to the terms of the Note Securities and other considerations that are important to Holders. All three documents contain information Holders should consider when making their investment decision. If the information in this Pricing Supplement differs from the information contained in the Prospectus and/or the Prospectus Supplement, you should rely on the information in this Pricing Supplement.

The Note Securities differ from conventional debt and fixed income investments; repayment of the entire Principal Amount will depend on the performance of the Reference Portfolio and is not guaranteed (other than the minimum Maturity Redemption Payment of 1% of the Principal Amount). See "Risk Factors" in the Prospectus Supplement and the Prospectus. The Note Securities entail downside risk and are not designed to be alternatives to conventional debt or fixed income investments or money market instruments.

The estimated initial value of the Note Securities as of the date of this Pricing Supplement is $97.19 per $100 of Principal Amount (being equivalent to a $0.40 annual discount over the term of the Note Securities), which is less than the issue price. The estimated initial value is not an indication of actual profit that the Bank or its affiliates will realize, nor is it an indication of the price, if any, at which the Bank or any other person may be willing to buy the Note Securities. The actual value of the Note Securities at any time will reflect many factors, cannot be predicted with accuracy, and may be less than this amount. We describe our determination of the estimated initial value in more detail in the Prospectus. The Independent Dealer did not participate in the preparation of the estimated initial value for the Note Securities. See "Description of the Note Securities – Estimated Initial Value of Linked Note Securities" in the Prospectus.

The Note Securities constitute direct, unsecured and unsubordinated debt obligations of the Bank ranking pari passu with all other present and future unsecured and unsubordinated indebtedness of the Bank. The Note Securities will not constitute deposits that are insured under the Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation Act or any other deposit insurance regime designed to ensure the payment of all or a portion of a deposit upon insolvency of the deposit taking institution.

The Note Securities will not be listed on any securities exchange or quotation system. National Bank Financial Inc. intends to maintain, under normal market conditions, a daily secondary market for the Note Securities. National Bank Financial Inc. may, in its sole discretion, stop maintaining a market for the Note Securities at any time without any prior notice to Holders. There can be no assurance that a secondary market will develop or, if one develops, that it will be liquid. Moreover, Holders selling their Note Securities prior to Maturity may be subject to certain fees. See "Secondary Market for the Note Securities" in the Prospectus Supplement.

National Bank Financial Inc. is an indirect wholly-owned subsidiary of the Bank. As a result, the Bank is a "related issuer" and a "connected issuer" of National Bank Financial Inc. within the meaning of the securities legislation of certain provinces and territories of Canada. See "Plan of Distribution" in the Prospectus Supplement and in the Prospectus.

REFERENCE ASSET

EURO iSTOXX® Banks Monthly Hedged CAD GR AR 5% Index

Type of Index

The type of index that is the Reference Asset can be referred to as an adjusted return index, which corresponds to the performance of a total return equity index (a type of index that reflects the hypothetical reinvestment of dividends and/or distributions paid on the securities making up the index), less a fixed percentage per annum.

Description

The Reference Asset replicates the performance of the gross return version of the EURO STOXX® Banks Monthly Hedged CAD Index (the "TR Index"), assuming a constant 5.00% performance deduction per annum (the "AR Factor"). The AR Factor accrues constantly on a daily basis (using an Actual/365 Fixed day count convention).

The TR Index is calculated in CAD and corresponds to the CAD-hedged version of the EURO STOXX® Banks Index (the "Stoxx Banks Index"). The TR Index combines the performance of the CAD version of the Stoxx Banks Index with a hypothetical, rolling investment into one-month foreign exchange forward contracts. Investors should be aware that the currency exposure may not be fully hedged. As a result, the performance of the TR Index may deviate from the performance of the Stoxx Banks Index. Any difference between the Canadian dollar and the euro interest rates will also impact the currency hedging effectiveness of the TR Index.

The Stoxx Banks Index measures the performance of the banks supersector in the Eurozone. The Stoxx Banks Index is derived from the EURO STOXX® Index, which itself is a broad yet liquid subset of the STOXX® Europe 600 Index. The Stoxx Banks Index is a capitalization-weighted index and classifies the banks supersector according to industry classification benchmark nomenclature and covers financial institutions that provide a broad range of financial services, including retail banking, loans and money transmissions.

AR Factor

The pricing features of note securities are based, amongst other factors, on the AR factor. Everything else being equal, the higher the AR factor, the better the pricing features of note securities (including the potential return).

Dividend Yield of the TR Index

As of November 2, 2026, the dividends and/or distributions paid on the constituent securities of the TR Index represented an annual indicative yield of 5.04%, representing an aggregate yield of approximately 35.28% over the term of the Note Securities, assuming that the dividends and/or distributions remain constant and are not reinvested.

The foregoing dividend yield information is for comparative purposes only and is not an indication of any future dividends and/or distributions that might be paid or payable on such constituent securities.

The performance of the Reference Asset will vary higher or lower from the performance of the price return version of the TR Index (that is, a version that does not reflect the reinvestment of dividends and/or distributions paid on the securities making up the TR Index) over the term of the Note Securities, depending on whether the impact of the dividends and/or other distributions reinvested in the TR Index is greater or less than the impact of the deduction of the AR Factor over the term of the Note Securities.

Impact of the AR Factor

The amount of any dividends and/or distributions paid on the constituent securities of the TR Index over any future period is uncertain. The use of the fixed AR Factor rather than the actual dividend paid eliminates this uncertainty. As a result, in a case where the AR Factor is equal to or higher than the Bank's assessment on the date of a pricing supplement of the expected dividends and/or distributions to be paid on the constituent securities of the TR Index, the Bank may generally be able to offer better pricing features compared to equivalent note securities referencing the price return version of the TR Index, such as a higher potential return.

However, as a consequence of the deduction of the fixed AR Factor, there is an additional risk of an adverse investment outcome under the Note Securities compared to note securities linked to the price return version of the TR Index with similar parameters. Please refer to the "Risk Factors" section for further details on certain risks ensuing from the deduction of the fixed AR Factor.

SUITABILITY OF THE NOTE SECURITIES FOR INVESTORS

The Note Securities are not suitable for all investors. In determining whether the Note Securities are a suitable investment for you, please consider that:

(i) the Note Securities provide no guaranteed Coupon Payments and if the Reference Portfolio Return is lower than the Coupon Payment Threshold on a Coupon Payment Valuation Date, you will receive no Coupon Payment on the related Coupon Payment Date, and you will receive no Coupon Payments over the term of the Note Securities if this occurs on all Coupon Payment Valuation Dates;

(ii) the Note Securities provide no protection for your Principal Amount and if (i) the Reference Portfolio Return is lower than the Call Threshold on every Call Valuation Date and is lower than the Barrier on the Final Valuation Date, and (ii) the sum of the resulting Maturity Redemption Payment and the aggregate Coupon Payments paid during the term of the Note Securities is less than the Principal Amount, you will receive an amount which is less than your Principal Amount over the term of the Note Securities;

(iii) you will not be entitled to any return beyond the Coupon Payments and the repayment of your Principal Amount;

(iv) your Note Securities will be redeemed automatically prior to the Maturity Date if on any Call Valuation Date the Reference Portfolio Return is equal to or higher than the Call Threshold;

(v) your investment strategy should be consistent with the investment features of the Note Securities;

(vi) your investment time horizon should correspond with the term of the Note Securities; and

(vii) your investment will be subject to the risk factors summarized in the section “Risk Factors” in this Pricing Supplement, the Prospectus Supplement and the Prospectus.

RISK FACTORS

An investment in the Note Securities involves certain risks. You should, in consultation with your own financial and legal advisers, carefully consider, among other matters, the following risks before deciding whether an investment in the Note Securities is suitable. These risks are in addition to the risk factors contained in the Prospectus and the Prospectus Supplement, including those in the Prospectus under "Risk Factors – Certain Risk Factors related to the Index Linked Note Securities".

Certain Risk Factors Related to the EURO iSTOXX® Banks Monthly Hedged CAD GR AR 5% Index

Uncertain Dividends

The performance of the Reference Asset will be affected by the ability of the issuers of the constituent securities of the TR Index to pay dividends and/or distributions. The dividend payment history of such constituent securities is not indicative of future payments. Future dividend payments and/or distributions are uncertain and depend upon various factors, including, without limitation, the financial position, earnings ratio and cash requirements of the applicable issuer of securities, legal and regulatory requirements and guidance, and the state of financial markets in general. It is not possible to predict the future level of dividends and/or distributions paid on the constituent securities of the TR Index.

Underperformance Compared to the Price Return Version of the TR Index

The AR Factor is a fixed percentage over the term of the Note Securities while the impact of the dividends and/or distributions reinvested in the TR Index will vary over the same period depending on the level of the TR Index upon the reinvestment of the dividends and/or distributions. As such, the reinvested dividends and/or distributions calculated over a higher level of the TR Index will have a reduced impact expressed in percentage on the performance of the TR Index (assuming the increase in the level of the TR Index is not offset by an increase in the dividends and/or distributions paid by the issuers of the constituent securities of the TR Index). In addition, a reduction of the dividends and/or distributions paid by the issuers of such constituent securities will also decrease the impact of the dividends and/or distributions reinvested in the TR Index (assuming the reduction in dividends and/or distributions is not offset by a reduction in the level of the TR Index). Consequently, if the impact of the dividends and/or distributions reinvested in the TR Index is less than the impact of the deduction of the AR Factor over a period of time, the performance of the Reference Asset will be lower than the performance of the price return version of the TR Index at the end of such period. The higher the deduction from the TR Index, the greater the potential magnitude of the underperformance.

As a consequence of the deduction of the fixed AR Factor, there is a risk of an adverse investment outcome under the Note Securities than there would be on otherwise comparable securities linked to the price return version of the TR Index with similar parameters. If the Reference Asset underperforms compared to the price return version of the TR Index, it is possible that:

(i) the Reference Portfolio Return on a Coupon Payment Valuation Date or a Call Valuation Date could be below the Coupon Payment Threshold and/or the Call Threshold, as applicable, while the return on the Note Securities calculated using the price return version of the TR Index calculated over the same period is equal to or above such thresholds, as applicable;

(ii) the Reference Portfolio Return on the Final Valuation Date could be below the Barrier while the return on the Note Securities calculated using the price return version of the TR Index calculated over the same period is equal to or above the Barrier; and

(iii) the Reference Portfolio Return on the Final Valuation Date below the Barrier results in a greater loss compared to the loss that would be resulting from the return on the Note Securities calculated using the price return version of the TR Index below the Barrier over the same period.
